

Our regions

Find out which campus is right for you - Nelson or Marlborough. Learn more about each of these diverse regions and what you can study at each campus.

Nelson Region

Our Nelson Campus is located in Nelson city, at the top of New Zealand's South Island. The Nelson region is known for its sunshine, festivals, markets and outdoor lifestyle. The Nelson-Tasman region has a population of around 93,000 with 46,000 living in Nelson city. Major industries in Nelson include horticulture, fishing and seafood and tourism.

Many international students come to Nelson campus to study aquaculture, business & IT, adventure tourism, arts, English language, maritime and nursing programmes.

Learn more about the Nelson region at www.nelsonnz.com(external link)

Marlborough Region

The Marlborough campus is situated on the outskirts of Blenheim in the Marlborough region at the top of the South Island. The population of Marlborough is 45,000 with around 30,000 living in Blenheim. The Marlborough region is famous around the world for its viticulture and wine industry. It is also well known for its thriving aviation and aquaculture industries, high sunshine hours and the beautiful Marlborough Sounds.

Many international students come to Marlborough campus to study viticulture and winemaking and aviation engineering.

Learn more about the Marlborough region at www.marlboroughnz.com(external link)